—The new railroad from Hives to Troy appears to be a fixed fact, the contractors, Ferguson & Co., having on the ground ready to commence work. Report has it that the Illinois Central has assumed charge of the work, and will build from Martin, via Hives and Troy to Tippecanoe. It is more probable that the road will be built from Martin via Troy to Memphis, and not to Tippecanoe. This latter supposition is true then the talk of road from Hives to Troy is a mistake. The road will very likely never be built.

—That "bloody shirt" speech at Marion, Ga., was ill timed, unjustifiable and wrong. We don't believe it reflects the sentiment of the Southern people—or at least of only a few. Gen. Jackson would not obtain a little notoriety and he got it. Such speeches can only hurt the South, and the Southern people, and an overwhelming majority of the Northern people know this, and will disapprove of it.

JAT GUILD sailed for Europe on the Umbria Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Gould, Misses Nellie and Annie Gould, and respectively sixteen and eight years, and a son aged six. He says his yacht will sail the party at Gibraltar, and they will cruise in the Mediterranean for two months. They will return in the spring. An afternoon paper of New York attributes Gould's departure to a desire to be absent from the country while the Chicago anarchists are hanged, through fear that their surviving comrades will attack him.

He estimates that the Labor vote will be about equally drawn from the two parties, and that the several factions, calling themselves various names, "will about weigh out even." On this theory he figures out a Democratic plurality for the State ticket of 15,000 or 20,000.
